WASPI UPDATE

Welcome to our March newsletter.

It has been an exciting and busy time with the WASPI service finalising its review of the Code of Conduct proposals and moving forward with the development of digital solutions to support organisations with creating and maintaining Information Sharing Protocols in the future.

WASPI CODE OF CONDUCT CONSULTATION UPDATE

Further to our proposals and request for views for the WASPI framework to apply to become an approved Information Commissioners' Office (ICO) Code of Conduct, the report on the consultation undertaken has now been published.

The report can be found here.

Thank you to everyone who provided feedback, this has supported us in reviewing the proposals and ensuring that this is shaped in the best possible way to support all organisations across all sectors.

We will now begin a period of consultation with ICO on the changes made following feedback and will continue to keep you updated as this work progresses

WASPI DATA PROCESSOR AND JOINT CONTROLLER AGREEMENT TEMPLATES

The WASPI Team and Blake Morgan LLP have made some amendments to the WASPI Data Processor and Joint Controller Agreement templates following feedback received from stakeholders. Guidance associated with the templates are currently being produced with a view to these being published alongside the templates shortly. Look out for further information in the coming weeks.

WASPI VIDEOS

A couple of short videos promoting the WASPI framework and setting out how to create an Information Sharing Protocol and the assurance mechanisms have been developed. These are currently available to view online. Welsh versions of each video will be available in due course.

The videos can be found here.

We would welcome any feedback on the first two videos, together with any ideas for further videos which your organisations feel might be valuable. Please contact us with any suggestions or feedback.

INFORMATION SHARING GATEWAY

We are delighted to confirm that the development of the Information Sharing Gateway (ISG) which will host the WASPI functionality is progressing.

Several workshop with a number of pilot organisations has been taking place, with valuable input being provided from organisations to support the development of the WASPI functionality within the ISG.

It is anticipated that further developments will be made to the system over coming months following conclusion of the workshops and we will keep stakeholders updated on progress over the coming months.
